Non-Conductors of Heat.

Ground cork and some other barks, and the sawdust of the soft woods, as well as the charcoal made of these substances, are very good retainers of heat. Lampblack also works well. When the thing to be kept hot is at a very high temperature, some light, incombustible powders are very suitable. Among the best of these are fossil meal and the calcined magnesias and magnesium carbonate of the druggists. Fossil meal consists of the silicious skeletons of microscopic vegetables, called diatoms, exceedingly various in shape and size, the very largest of them hardly reaching the length of the hundredth of an inch. It is found abundantly in some peat meadows and in the bottoms of ponds. Both fossil meal and magnesium carbonate have been largely used in covering steam pipes.

Obviously, when the same light substance is tried in both the first and second apparatus above mentioned, and the results differ, it must be owing to the inability of the substance to hold the included air still in the first arrangement. So powdered plumbago or black lead, which is very slippery, shows nearly twice as much transmissive power in one case as in the other. Loosened asbestos fiber also lets through about twice as much heat in the vertical arrangement as in the horizontal. Yet this fiber may be split up exceedingly fine, but the great difference in its behavior as compared with cotton or wool must be owing much less to its own greater specific conducting power than to the smoothness and inelasticity of its fibers.—Professor John M. Ordway in Popular Science Monthly.

The Handkerchief in France.

Lace was used to ornament handkerchiefs in France as early as 1834. In 1848 they were embroidered and had tassels at each of the four corners. In the time of the Directory, that period of fashionable eccentricity, they underwent many vagaries. Those ladies who did not care to wear the pocket attached to the girdle and wished to have the hands at liberty tucked the fan into the belt, slid the purse into the corsage and had the handkerchief carried by a gallant, to whom it was necessary to apply when it happened to be needed. If the handkerchief carrier could not be found, or was insidiously flirting with another woman, and the nose imperatively demanded blowing, the case was serious.

When the French blow the nose, it should be remembered, it is for all it is worth. No one who has not witnessed the performance could ever believe the nasal passages possessed of such a sonorous quality, and when the effort is several times repeated one might easily imagine himself listening to the Angel Gabriel rehearsing for the last judgment. The French fashion in this respect is not to be recklessly imitated like Paris styles in laces, silks and satins, fans, dresses, bonnets and other things pertaining to female attire.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Victims by Thousands.

Records of great earthquakes fill a large space in the world's history, and instances where people have perished by thousands from this cause are mournfully numerous. An earthquake accompanied by a volcanic eruption destroyed the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum and buried most of their inhabitants in the ruins in the year 79, A. D. The entire world was shaken from pinnacle to foundation stone in the year 543. In 537 Constantinople suffered terribly from an earthquake, which killed thousands of its inhabitants. In 749 an awful shock visited China, India, Persia and Palestine, killing hundreds of thousands of human beings, besides beasts beyond calculation.

In 1158, 20,000 persons perished from an earthquake shock in Syria alone; in 1268, 60,000 were killed or buried alive in Cilicia. In 1531 Lisbon, Portugal, had her first great shock—that which killed 80,000 people. In 1626 Naples was again visited and had 70,000 of her people taken away by the earthquake demon. The next year the Schanaki was constantly rocked by earthquakes for three months, during which time 80,000 persons were killed.—St. Louis Republic.

A Difference in Boys.

There is a vast difference between the ways and ideas of amusement of the small boy uptown and the small boy downtown who makes his living by selling papers, shining muddy boots or being messenger. For instance, the downtown newsboy scorns to throw snowballs as a usual thing. He will shake dice, "match" coppers or smoke cigarettes and discuss some melodrama playing in his favorite Bowery theatre, but he absolutely declines to throw snowballs. On the other hand, his more innocent brother seven or eight miles higher up on the island still clings to the good old fashioned sport of "pasting" everything and everybody with a snowball. That's all association, of course.—New York Tribune.

Borrowed Skates Saved Mr. Flower's Life.

"Like all boys, I had my trials and vicissitudes," said Mr. Roswell P. Flower. "While skating one day I slid into an airhole. I would have drowned had not my companion, at considerable risk to himself, succeeded in rescuing me after several attempts, during which he was more than once on the point of sliding in with me. When we reached the village he tried to say that he could not have pulled me out if he had had his skates on, but what he eventually did say was that he would have let me sink if I had not had his skates on."—Epoch.

THE NEW ORLEANS LYNCHING.

The Grand Jury which has been investigating the New Orleans lynching and the causes which resulted in that tragic incident, has reported. It finds that the Mafia is a regularly organized body; that the bribing of some members of the jury which tried the murderers of Chief of Police Bennessy, is unquestionable; that the citizens who led the movement against the prisoners are respectable and law-abiding, and that eight of the persons lynched were citizens of the United States, and another had declared his intention to become a citizen.

The jury found indictments against six members for bribing or attempting to bribe trial jurors, one of the persons indicted being O'Malley, the detective, and decided that it would be impossible to proceed against the lynchers.

The action of the Grand Jury in not indicting the leaders of the movement which culminated in the lynching of eleven persons, is not disappointing. No one believed that criminal proceedings would be had in their cases, as their action was commended by not only the people of New Orleans but by a large majority throughout the country, and was even approved by the conservative London Times. The fact that eight of the victims were American citizens proves conclusively that nationality was not considered in disposing of them and that their fate would have been the same had they been native instead of naturalized citizens.

The tragedy and the causes which led to it are to be deplored, but that Italy under the circumstances, has any just cause for complaint, will not be conceded by any reasonable person. It devolves upon the authorities, however, to prosecute to the full extent of the law, the persons who attempted to bribe the trial jurors, as doubtless had it not been for their interference, justice would have been meted out to the assassins of the Chief of Police, according to law, and there would have been no occasion for lynching the prisoners.

INDORSING MINISTER BLAIR.

The Woman's National Industrial League of America is taking the part of Minister Blair. At a meeting of the League held in Washington last Monday it resolved that the objection of the Emperor of China to Minister Blair was the highest compliment that could be bestowed by the Emperor on a citizen of the United States.

As Senator, Minister Blair advocated the passage of the Chinese Exclusion Act in the interest of the industrial classes of the country. That Act passed both Houses of Congress and was approved by President Cleveland. It settled for the present at least a question which had been agitating the people of this coast since the early days of California. The sentiments expressed by Senator Blair in support of the measure were indorsed by a large majority on this Coast and by labor organizations throughout the Union.

The question now is Will the Administration back down and revoke the appointment of Minister Blair? The time was when to do so would have cost the Republican party the State of California. As Senator Blair simply gave expression to public sentiment on the Chinese question, and as Minister he would doubtless do likewise, to revoke his appointment and send a man to Peking who would convey the impression that he did not, would be depriving the Chinese Government, and conveying the impression that in a few years when the Exclusion Act expires by limitation the United States would again open its ports to unrestricted Chinese immigration.

THE CHILEAN INSURRECTION.

Civil war has been waged in Chili for several months past. Dislike for Balmaceda, the President of the Republic, was the alleged cause of the insurrection. Thousands of lives have been lost in the fratricidal struggle, and the war has been mercilessly waged, no quarter being asked or given by either side. Some of the finest vessels in the navy have been blown to pieces by torpedo boats, proving the almost utter worthlessness of iron-clads in modern warfare, cities and towns have been devastated and the business of the whole country paralyzed.

Now it is proposed to end the struggle, which has ruined the country, by submitting the questions at issue to arbitrators. President Balmaceda suggests that three members of the Congressional or Insurgent party, and three members of the Presidential party, be appointed to confer and devise some method of restoring peace to the distracted country. He solicits the good offices of the Republics of the United States, France, and Brazil, and hopes they will unite in the endeavors they make to end the war, which is depopulating and devastating a sister Republic.

LEPROUS INDIANS.

SONOMA, Cal., May 6.—A startling discovery was made to-day near Montezuma by Dr. Stratton, at a Chinese camp, of an Indian boy in an advanced stage of leprosy was found. He stated that two Indians in Sonoma were afflicted with the same disease. The supervisors are investigating.

FIRE AT SAN JACINTO.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—A Chronicle special from San Diego says a special dispatch received here this afternoon says that about half the business portion of San Jacinto in the northern part of this county is in ashes. The loss will reach $60,000. Nearly covered by insurance.

BY TELEGRAPH!

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

Harrison in Washington State. Special to the Journal.

TACOMA, May 6.—The President and party entered the State of Washington at an early hour this morning in a driving rain storm. This interfered materially with the arrangements for the receptions at various places along the road. It was 8 o'clock when the Presidential special reached Tacoma, and rain seemed to be coming down harder than ever. The party, however, were given a royal reception. They were met at the station by the Governor and Mayor of the city and a committee of citizens who escorted the party to the Gross block where a formal address of welcome was delivered. The streets on the line of march and the reviewing stand were handsomely and appropriately decorated.

In the course of his response to the addresses of welcome the President said: I would like to see the proudest of some great steamship lines carrying the American flag entering these parts of Puget Sound. I believe we have come to the time in our development as a people when we must make a step forward with bold progress or we will lose the advantage we have already attained. We have within ourselves resources and a market of which the world is envious; we have been content in years gone by to allow other nations to do the carrying trade of the world; we have been content to see the markets of American republics lying south of us controlled by European nations. I think the period of discontent with these things has now come to our people; the time is auspicious for the enlargement of our commerce with these friendly republics; the time is propitious for re-establishing on the sea an American merchant marine that shall do its share of the carrying trade of the world.

SEATTLE, May 6.—At Tacoma the President was met by the Mayor and a committee of citizens of this place, who took him aboard the steamer City of Seattle and escorted him to this city. An informal reception was held on the steamer.

The ride on the steamer from Tacoma to Seattle was devoted chiefly to an informal enjoyment of the trip and luncheon. Elliott Bay was covered with vessels and boats of every description whose whistling as the steamer bearing the President approached the city was deafening. A large and enthusiastic crowd filled every available place along the wharves. The streets were so thronged that it was almost impossible for carriages to be drawn through to the cable cars which were to take the party out to Lake Washington. The weather cleared off somewhat in the afternoon. The city was gaily decorated with the national colors and evergreens.

TACOMA, May 6.—The Presidential train which left Seattle this evening passed through Tacoma at 7:30 en route to Portland.

The New Orleans Tragedy.

Special to the Journal.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Following are the editorial comments on the New Orleans Grand Jury report:

New York Evening Post: It is confessed by competent authority that the machinery of criminal justice has completely broken down in the State of Louisiana, and that crimes of any magnitude have to be punished by a revolting tribunal.

New York Herald: It is no time to sermonize about mob violence. An uprising of the people is not the outbreak of a mob. The disease called for the cure and justifies the means.

Minneapolis Tribune: The Grand Jury has published a declaration that New Orleans is ruled by a detective agency on one side or a mob on the other, and that anarchy reigns in New Orleans.

Minneapolis Journal: Public opinion will hardly endorse the omission of the Grand Jury to formally indict the leaders of the lynching party or as many of the party as were known. It would have been much more to the credit of the community had this been done.

Cincinnati Times-Star: We believe it will be the common opinion that far from showing any grave weakness or defect in our social or political system the episode and outcome demonstrates the strength and efficacy of popular government in America.

WHAT NEW ORLEANS PAPERS SAY.

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—The States says: "The people" did it and no Grand Jury could devise a way to indict "The people." The Times-Democrat says: The Grand Jury's return will meet the approval of the entire country. The case has been tried before the bar of public opinion and the finding of "well done" has long since been returned as to the men whose act suppressed the Mafia and gave warning to the criminals of Europe that they would find no welcome in this country.

A GROWL FROM PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—The Telegraph says: The people of this country, thanks to the insolvent course of the Italian Government, will not seriously concern themselves with the question whether the respectable mob of "best citizens" are "brought to punishment," but they are mightily interested in the question whether the greatest city in the South is to be a place where no human life is safe; where the Government may be looked to in vain for the exercise of legitimate and needful authority.

After the Robert and Minnie. Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—A Chronicle special from San Diego says: United States Marshal Gard, who returned from a trip in a tug beyond the heads this morning, discovered that the mysterious schooner which had been lying off the harbor was the "Robert and Minnie" of San Francisco, which was supposed to have on board arms and ammunition for the Chilean insurgents. Marshal Gard went to the telegraph office upon his return here and filed a dispatch detailing the result of his investigations. It is supposed that he received further instructions in reply, as this afternoon he chartered the tug again and this time took on board with him a company of U. S. soldiers from the barracks here in addition to his deputies, and started for the open sea with the avowed intention of capturing the schooner and her cargo of rifles and cartridges and bringing her into port no matter whether she be overhauled within the limit of three miles or not. It is generally considered here that Marshal Gard is acting under direct orders from Washington. The tug will probably not return with the schooner until late this evening or early in the morning.

Charged With Arson.

Special to the Journal.

HOLLISTER, Cal., May 6.—The house of William Kelly was burned last month and to-day Charles Mankins, thirteen years old, was examined upon the charge of arson for having set fire to it. He had heretofore said that on the day of the fire he saw a Mexican near the place. Public opinion fixed on this imaginary Mexican as the guilty party. The finding of a pistol which was believed to have been destroyed with the house in young Mankins' possession, however, caused his arrest, and upon being questioned he admitted his guilt. To-day he testified that he set fire to the building because he was commanded to do so by his father, George Mankins and seems to think that in obeying his father he did nothing wrong. He was held to answer and his father was arrested. His father denies that he was connected with the burning or knew anything about it.

A Member of the Alaska Exploring Party Returns.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—A. B. Schanz, a member of the Wells-Price Alaska Exploring Expedition arrived here to-day. He was taken sick at Camp Davidson and left behind. He descended the Yukon river in a boat. He made his winter quarters at an Esquimaux village and in company with John Clark, a trader, made a forty days' trip north on sleds. On this trip Clark lake and Nogbelin river were discovered.

Grasshoppers Destroying Crops.

Special to the Journal.

BACRAMENTO, May 6.—A Bee special from Folsom says: Millions of grasshoppers have appeared on the ranches around here. Much uneasiness is felt and great destruction has already been done. The hay crop will be the only thing that will not suffer, as it is nearly harvested.

Will Establish His Citizenship.

Special to the Journal.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 6.—Boyd, who was ousted from the gubernatorial chair yesterday by the State Supreme Court, to-day stated positively that he will carry the case to the Supreme Court. "I do not care for the office," said he, "but my citizenship I am determined to establish."

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla Sold by all druggists, $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. L. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

TIMBER LANDS.
New Regulations Regarding Them.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, has issued a circular letter of instructions to Registers and Receivers of Land Offices regarding the sections of the Federal Land Act of March 3, 1881, relating to cutting timber on public lands. The regulations which apply to Nevada are in substance as follows:

PERSONS WHO MAY CUT TIMBER.
Settlers upon public lands, miners, farmers and other bona fide residents who have not a sufficient supply of timber on their own claims or lands for firewood, fencing or building purposes, or for necessary use in the development of mineral or other natural resources of the lands owned or occupied by them, are permitted to procure timber from the public lands strictly for the purposes enumerated in this section; but not for sale or disposal or use on other lands or by other persons; but this section shall not be construed to give the right to cut timber on any appropriated or reserved public lands; and the Secretary of the Interior has the right to reserve or revoke such privileges.

WHEN TIMBER MAY BE CUT FOR SALE.
Persons, firms or corporations who desire to cut timber from public lands for the purposes of merchandise, or for any other whatsoever, other than as above defined, must submit an application therefor in writing to the Secretary of the Interior, designating the land by sections, township and range, if surveyed, and if unsurveyed describe the lands by natural boundaries and estimated number of acres thereof. They must also define the character of the land and the kinds of trees or timber growing thereon, giving an estimate as to the quantity of each kind, stating which particular kind or kinds they desire to cut or remove and specify the purpose or purposes for which such timber or products thereof are required. The application must be sworn to and witnessed by not less than four responsible citizens who reside in the locality of the particular land described. The petitioner or petitioners should also submit with the application such evidence as can be procured to conclusively show that the preservation of timber on the land described is not required for public good, but that its use as lumber or other product, and for the purposes named in the application, is a public necessity. If deemed for the public interest, desired permission will be granted.

NOTICE TO ADVERSE PARTIES.
In order that the farmers who desire to have the forests preserved in the interest of the water supply for irrigation, and all others having adverse interests may have due notice of such applications, parties making application shall cause to be published at least once a week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the State, and in newspapers in the county, or where there is more than one county, in each of the counties wherein the lands are situated, and printed. A copy of the published notices must be submitted with the application, together with the affidavits of the publisher or foreman of each newspaper attached thereto, showing that the same was successively inserted the requisite number of times, and the dates thereof.

Cutting or removing any timber from public lands described in the application, before authority has been officially granted by the Secretary of the Interior, will render the party so offending liable to prosecution for trespass and subject his application to rejection. Saw mill owners, lumber dealers and others, who, in any manner, cause or procure timber to be cut or removed from any public lands in violation of law or these rules or regulations, whether directly or by men in their employ, or directly through contract or purchase, are equally guilty of trespass with the individuals who actually cut or remove such timber, and alike liable to criminal prosecution.

Thatcher's Minstrels.
The Minneapolis Times of April 28th says of George Thatcher's Minstrels, who come to McElrick's Opera House next Sunday evening, May 10th:
All the soloists were old favorites, and were greeted with hearty plaudits as they were introduced. The quartette, Moore, Jose, Lewis and Frillman, was compelled to repeat its numbers on each occasion. Thomas Lewis made a decided hit with his original song, "The Lovers' Quarrel," which is a gem in its way, and has a quaint rhythm and movement that is catchy. H. W. Frillman, the old and always favorite, gave "The Lost Chord," and responded to the tumultuous applause with "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," in which he showed his wonderful power and compass. H. J. Jose sang several numbers, and his silver tenor kept the audience breathless. George Thatcher and Burt Shepard, whom all recognize as favorites of the past, simply repeated their old successes in their broad humor. The specialties were all good and far above the average of even the best of minstrel shows. The finale, "The Fate of the Gondoliers," was novel, and a pretty piece of stage setting and costuming. A notice of the night's amusement would hardly be complete without a reference to the eccentric dancing of J. A. Coleman, who exhibits something new in the way of terpsichorean gymnastics, to the great delight of the audience.

The Independent says Elko Lodge No. 18, I. O. O. F., will observe Memorial Day with appropriate exercises.

A POWER IN THE LAND.
Tribute to the Primary School Teacher.
The Shelbyville Democrat pays the following deserved tribute to young women who teach the primary schools:
"Lift your hat reverently when you meet the teacher of the primary school. She is the good angel of the Republic. She takes the little hantling, fresh from the homestead and full of his pouts and his passions, an ungovernable little wretch, whose own mother honestly admits she sends him to school to get rid of him. This young lady, who knows her business, takes a whole carload of these anarchists, half of whom, single-handed and alone, are more than a match for both their parents, and at once puts them in the way of being useful and upright citizens. At what expense of toil and weariness! Here is the most responsible position in the whole school, and if her salary was doubled she would receive less than she earns."

No Counterfeit Inddels.
"Did you ever see a counterfeit one dollar bill?"
"Yes."
"Why was it counterfeited?"
"Because the genuine bill was worth counterfeiting."
"Did you ever see a scrap of brown paper counterfeited?"
"No."
"Why not?"
"Because it was not worth counterfeiting."
"Did you ever see a counterfeit Christian?"
"Yes."
"Why was he counterfeited?"
"Because he was worth counterfeiting."
"Was he to blame for the counterfeiting?"
"Of course not."
"Did you ever see a counterfeit infidel?"
"Why, no."
"Why not?"
"Ahem!"
We pass the above catechism along.

"Odd Tom."
Old Tom Veit had a habit of doing queer and unexpected things, and thus came to be known throughout the region in which he lived as "Odd Tom." Sometimes his oddity appeared in some peculiarity of dress, as when he wore his coat wrong side out, because, as he said, he had "got tired of the looks of the right side." One day Tom went to his next neighbor, Zebah Green, to hire his horse for the day.
"What d'ye want 'im for?" was Zebah's inquiry.
"Oh, jest to go down to the village to do some marketin'" was the answer.
"Praps I might go on afterward as far as Job Stone's, 'n' look at his oxen."
"Wal, I don't want ye to have 'im," replied Zebah, referring to the horse, "but ye may, jest ter commodate ye, if ye won't go no further'n jest to the village—ye know that's 'most ten mile."
"Why, of course not," said Tom, "not unless you're willin'."
"Wal, then, take 'im, but don't ye drive him no further'n the village, or I'll never let ye have him agin'!"
So Tom harnessed the old horse and started for market. As he passed Zebah's house on his way he heard, faintly, rattled from his neighbor, who stood in the barn door, "Be sure ye don't go no further'n jest to the village!"
Toward night Tom was seen, laden with bundles, coming slowly up the road from the village—on foot. Ont rushed Zebah, open mouthed.
"What ye done with old Bill?" he cried.
"Wal," answered Tom, with the utmost coolness, "ye seemed so all-fired scared for fear I'd drive him further'n jest to the village that I didn't dare drive him home agin, 'n' so I left him there, under the store shed."—Youth's Companion.

Clerks Under Surveillance.
"Do you see that man on the other side of the street?" said a friend who is employed in a downtown bank, while we were walking leisurely up Broadway one evening last week.
I glanced at the man to whom my friend referred. "He's a detective," he continued, "and he is following us—or rather me. You seem surprised, but it is a fact that every bank in this city has one or two and sometimes three private detectives whose sole duty is to keep track of the doings of employees. It seems to be my turn to be followed now, as this man has been dogging me since yesterday. The watch will continue for several days longer, and after reporting to the bank he will be assigned to follow some one else."
"Not long ago one of our expert book-keepers sent word to the bank that he was ill and could not come to the office, but the same day his resignation was requested. The fact is, he had spent the night before in dissipation, and the bank, having been informed of this by its detective, his dismissal followed."
"Being dogged about like a criminal is not pleasant. But what can we do? When protestations are made against it the bank officials assure us that we are mistaken, that they do not hire men to watch us. Of course you can't expect them to admit it, but every bank clerk can tell you that such is the case."—New York Herald.

Chinese Ideas About God. A young lady who teaches Sunday school lessons to two Chinese boys in an Episcopal church on Fifth avenue, speaking of her work, said: "My two sons of the Flower Kingdom can speak but little English, but I really think they have a good idea of Christ and his mission on earth. They seem very apt at learning, and kneel and stand up at the proper time during church services. Both of them wear queues, though, and would not part from them for any consideration. It took me a long time to make them understand that Christ was divine. They imagined I had reference merely to his goodness. At first they imagined he was an idol that had been found over eighteen hundred years ago at Bethlehem, in Judea, and had been buried, after being exposed on the cross, and then stolen and hidden by those who worshipped the idol. It was hard to get them away from the Jesus idea. "They speak English so imperfectly I think that is a drawback to their rapid advancement. One of them asked me if God was buried in Judea, as well as his son. When I explained that they lived above the clouds an incredulous look came upon the boys' faces, and one said, 'Melican man has things way up.' I could not deny that we worshipped a being far above us, but all around us. How long did it take me to make them understand the divinity of Christ? Well, nearly four years. They are bright boys." - New York Herald.

The Average Man. One of the most galling tyrannies of modern life is that of the "average man." Who ever saw the average man? Is any one acquainted with any one who ever did? Has any one any reason to believe that the average man ever existed? The fact of the matter is that the average man is a myth. He never did and never will exist. He is a philosophical abstraction, a stage property of the metaphysician, a straw man set up to be worshipped or reviled, as the case may be. Yet people always bow down to him and talk in whispers about his thoughts, his moods, his needs and desires. They are rejoiced when he is supposed to smile, and are cast down when he frowns. Statisticians burn the midnight oil in order to "do sums" about him. Statesmen give up their lives to his service. Political economists look solemn as they take his measure. Physicians explain how he may keep well, and preachers adjust the message of the gospel to his comprehension. Yet, of all the myriads of men who have ever lived each one differs more or less from the supposed average man. Who will deliver the world from the tyrannical rule of the average man? - Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

A Doomed Duet. Singers who "murder" music are usually considered more guilty than the music is. The provoked Cincinnati judge was not blaming the music, however, when he turned the metaphor the other way. His daughter and a young gentleman caller frequently indulge in tuneless vocal practice over the piano, and when they get together in the parlor the judge gets in as remote a part of the house as possible in order to avoid what he terms the uproar. One evening they had been even more devoted than usual to their music, and on the following morning the judge inquired of his daughter: "What on earth was all that racket you and your caller were making in the parlor last evening?" "Why, papa, Sam and I were trying a new duet." "Trying a new duet, were you? Well, from what I heard I should judge that you found it guilty and inflicted the heaviest penalty on it." - New York Times.

An Old New Orleans Custom. If you have plenty time to loaf and observe everything that passes before your gaze you will notice on nearly every post in the French quarters there are little hand bills tacked up and bearing the heading "Decede." Beneath this there is additional printing, all, however, in French. These are death notices, which seemed to be used instead of the newspapers to announce the inevitable hand. They state the hour of the funeral, etc., and the name of the deceased. As a general thing these notices are tacked up all over the French section in an hour after the person has died. I noticed several upon which the printers' ink had scarcely dried, and which announced the demise of some unfortunate which had taken place only a few minutes before. - New Orleans Cor. Richmond Dispatch.

Neatly Caught. The following is told of a judge before whom a man was being tried for stealing a gold watch from a woman as she was entering a bus. The man declared the watch was his, and the woman was mistaken in identifying it as hers. Suddenly the judge asked: "Where's the key?" The prisoner fumbled in his pockets, and said he must have left it at home. The judge asked him if he wound the watch frequently with the key, and he said "Yes." Then a key was procured, watch and key were handed to the prisoner, and he was told to wind the watch. He opened the case but could not find any place to use the key, because the watch was a keyless one. The sentence was five years. - London Tit-Bits.

The Thoughtful Manager. Mrs. De Style (in theatre box) - "What was this placard, 'No Loud Talking,' put in our box for?" Mrs. Forrester (after reflection) - "I presume the manager left it here so we could show it to the people on the stage when their chatter interrupts our conversation." - New York Weekly.

Weight of French Money. A Frenchman, who evidently revels in handling large sums of money, has compiled some entertaining statistics with regard to the weight of a milliard of the French coin of the realm. According to him a milliard in silver weighs 10,000,000 pounds, in gold, 645,100 pounds; in 1,000 franc checks, 2,500 pounds, and in 100 franc checks, 25,000 pounds. Assuming that a carrier could carry two hundred-weight, 18 men would be required to carry a milliard in 1,000 franc checks, 115 men for the same sum in 100 franc checks, 8,225 men in gold and 56,000 in silver. A milliard in 1,000 franc checks would make 3,000 volumes of 500 pages each. - Boston Herald.

Queer Face Ornamentation. At any time from 16 to 23 years of age the male Esquimaux have their lower lips pierced under each corner of the mouth for labrets. When the incision is first made sharp pointed pieces of ivory are put in. After the wound heals the hole is gradually stretched to half an inch in diameter. Some of the poorer natives wear labrets made from cannon coil, ivory, common gravel and glass stoppers obtained from ships, which they shape for the purpose. All who can obtain them have agate ones. - Washington Letter.

The Turning Point. With many a man is some trivial act, and a mere recommendation of some friend to try S. S. S. has saved the lives of hundreds. Speaking a good word for S. S.
